4 Circulate Petitions Against Plan

Petitions protesting the traffic circulation plan and Ocean Avenue Pedestrian Park are circulating in Carmel today and will be presented at the public hearing Wednesday at 8:00 o'clock before the city council on the planning commission's central district plan.

Ralph Castagna, Fred Leidig, Art Beaudin and Andy Wiemann are circulating the petitions.

Terming the plan as an "inequitable, discriminatory and un-Carmel-like proposal", the petition states "the plan would adversely affect the charm of Carmel, the convenience of its citizens and the business of its merchants, and we submit the following for your consideration:

"1. The plan would modernize a village into a city and the flavor of the old Carmel would be lost.

"2. The radical change in the traffic flow, diverted from Ocean Avenue, and the elimination of many parking spaces from Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Dolores Avenues will cause many customers of the businesses located in that area to take their trade out of the City of Carmel with the subsequent loss of sales tax revenues upon which the city depends so greatly to balance its budget. This can only result in higher taxes upon real properties including residential properties.

"3. There will be added running expenses to the city in implementing this plan. There will be added expenses to the city in providing replacement of parking spaces. For instance, the loss of 24 spaces in one block on Ocean Avenue would cost a minimum of $96,000.00 to replace with equal but less desirable stalls. The number of spaces to be lost on 6th and 7th Avenues dwarf this.

"4. Traffic congestion will be compounded and diverted into the residential area. One of our two only 100 foot wide streets will be blocked to traffic and abandoned. Traffic on other streets will be thereby increased and also increased because of the greater distances required to reach the desired destination. The plan pushes traffic out of the center of town into the surrounding residential area.

"5. Fire fighting will be impeded —this is too obvious to need particularization. For the same reason police work will be hampered. Freight in, delivery out, waste removal and all other services will he hindered.

"6. Property values will be inequitably upset — present values destroyed and new values created —all without any effort or acquiescence on the part of the owners.

"7. The new traffic flow will likely lead to installation of traffic control lights — an abomination which the village has managed to avoid and can avoid if this plan is not approved.

"8. Businesses and stores supplying needed services to the residents of Carmel will be so difficult to reach that they will be forced out of existence to the detriment

Kids' City Council Meeting Set For 6:30 Wednesday Eve.

Mayor Frank Putnam has designated Wednesday as Youth in Government Day, he announced last night.

As is customary since the annual kids' council meeting was inaugurated during the Fred Godwin Administration, tomorrow the high school student body will select students to serve for a day as city councilmen and city officials. Each student council member-commissioner will confer in the morning with his adult opposite number, and visit his department. The student councilman who has been selected to be police commissioner will be briefed by Police Commissioner John Chitwood, and visit the police department where he'll find the student chief of police in conference with Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann. The entire student council will go on a sample tree tour with Street Commissioner Francis Whitaker and Street Superindent William Askew, who have already been instructing and priming for the council meeting the student street commissioner and student street

JC Chorus To Sing New Buhler Work At Spring Concert

The Monterey Peninsula College Chorus will present a new composition, Cantate Domine-a Laud: Psalm 149, by Philippe Buhler of Del Monte Park at their spring concert for the public tomorrow evening in All Saints' Episcopal Church at 8:30 o'clock. The work was commissioned by Dr. Harvey Marshall, chairman of the MPC music department, and had its first performance last month. The 45-voice MPC choir, a brass ensemble, tympani and organ will perform the work.

Also on the program will be Sonata Pian E Forte, Gabrieli (brass choir); Excerpts from Stabat Mater, Pergolese (College Singers with Ernest Tweedy, organist); Miriam's Song of Triumph, Schubert (MPC Chorus, Annie Holt and Patricia Diggs, soprano soloists).

The brass choir of trumpets, trombones, French horns, tuba and bass trumpet will be directed by John Erickson, MPC music instructor. He will also direct the College Singers. Miss Angie Machado is assistant chorus conductor, Dr. Marshall, conductor.

Sheriff's Office Is Investigating Three Jewel Thefts

The sheriff's office today is investigating two jewel thefts at Del Monte Lodge and one at Highlands Inn which supposedly occurred between 11:00 o'clock yesterday morning and 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Rough estimates of the value of the jewelry involved amount to about $14,000.

According to Walter Victorine, Carmel Highlands sheriff's officer, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Norris of Riverside, Illinois, reported that some time before 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a suitcase disappeared from their apartment at Highlands Inn. It contained lingerie, dresses and jewelry. Total value of the missing articles is estimated by Victorine at $6,000. The 11 pieces of missing jewelry included a diamond studded wrist watch and band, value $1,600, and a gold pin set with diamonds, $1,000.

Sheriff's reports on the Del Monte disappearances were not available this morning, but value of missing articles was set in the vicinity of $8,000.

White House To Be Cut In Half To Save 2 Pines, 3 Oaks

In the 15-minute adjourned meeting preceding the public hearing last night, the city council approved the report of the White House Committee (Mayor Frank Putnam and Councilman Francis Whitaker).

With the agreement of the owner, Mrs. Dee White and the purchaser, George Westcott, the cottage will be cut in half and moved in two parts from the property on the west side of Torres Street, recently acquired by the city, to the Westcott lot on the east side. One ten and one 11 inch in diameter city pines and one six-inch oak will have to be cut down..

If the cottage were moved intact across the street five pines and three oaks would have to have been removed.

The problem of how to move the "White House" has been in committee continuously and before the council three times since the council, on its May 3 tree tour, objected to the massive tree removal that would be involved in the across-the-street move.

Proposal to move the White House through the city corporation yard to Junipero Street and around the block was discarded when it was found that even more trees would have to be cut.

At last week's council meeting, the committee proposed that the city buy the house from Mrs. White, rent it to amortize the purchase price, and tear it down when the land was needed for civic center construction.

Last night the committee reported that since Westcott had already spent $1,000 clearing his lot across the street compensation to him would have to be considered along with the purchase price of the house.

Council accepted the loss of the two pines and one oak as the best solution of the various possibilities, especially since Whitaker said that the biggest trees were those saved.

Council Backs Fenton Garage By 3 To 2 Vote

Last night the Carmel City Council voted three to two to uphold the planning commission's issuance of a building permit to the Carmel Plaza Company (Fenton Block Development) for a two-level parking garage and gasoline station. Yes: Mayor Frank Putnam, Councilmen John Chitwood and Francis Whitaker. No: Councilmen Gunnar Norberg and Eben Whittlesey.

Citizens Protest Breaking Ordinance For Fenton Benefit

At the appeal hearing last night ten citizens spoke against the planning commission's granting a building permit to Leslie Fenton for a parking garage and gasoline service station in a locality where garages and gasoline stations are not allowed by the zoning ordinance. Two spoke in favor.

Here are some of their comments.

Admiral C. W. Fisher, representing the Carmel Citizens Committee, said that the zoning ordinance does not allow gas stations in the C-1 area; the intent was clearly to prohibit sale of gas in the area. He urged the council to sustain the appeal so that "when the new ordinance is adopted, we won't be saddled with a use repugnant to the citizens of Carmel."

W. W. Yale: "If this Fenton Plaza use is allowed, we might as well give up any hope of planning in Carmel."

C. B. Hazeltine: "I am unimpressed with legal gabbly-de-goop. We have a city ordinance limiting certain activities in certain areas." The intent of the ordinance is clear, he said. If this concession is made, over the years others will follow. Seventy-five percent of the town is residential, he pointed out, and said that the majority of the residents are opposed to the Fenton garage-service station.

Mrs. C. A. Broaddus pointed out the dangers of breaking the zoning laws for "a matter of special privilege." She said she found the Godwin parking lot attractive. "We'd rather see open lots and not buildings."

Free Performance Of Newly Discovered Vivaldi Mass Sunday

The public is invited to attend the free concert to be presented Sunday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium. This concert is sponsored by the Chamber Music Society of Carmel the Carmel Adult School, and the Salinas Adult School.

The program will consist of the first performance of the Vivaldi Mass (for two choruses and two Chamber Orchestras) discovered in Italy last year and the Bach E Major Violin Concerto with Myriam Zunser as guest soloist.

Soprano soloists for the Vivaldi are Ruth Healey, Nancy Hurdle and Norma Wiley of Salinas; tenor soloist, Dr. John Craige of Seaside

This morning George Walker, one of the attorneys for the appellants, told the Pine Cone he would ask superior court to review the decision of the city council; also to restrain issuance of the building permit until the matter can be heard. He will continue to ask for a court interpretation of the ordinance as to parking lot vs. parking garage question.

The city ordinance bars gasoline stations and garages from the C-1 district where the Fenton Development is located. The planning commission justified their approval of the Fenton plans by interpreting "parking lot" which is permitted in the ordinance to mean a concrete parking garage. The gas station they chose to designate as an accessory use. The ordinance allows for accessory uses, "customary and necessary to a permittee use."

Attorneys for the citizens who appealed the planning commission's decision to the council emphasized that a gasoline station is not a "customary" accessory use to a parking lot in Carmel since there are none in existence; and that if the designers of the 1940 zoning ordinance had intended that parking garages be permitted in the C-1 zone they would have so specified. They were aware that such structures as parking garages existed, "since one was staring them in the face on Ocean Avenue, much to their distress." The listing of parking garages as a permitted use in the C-1 zone was not an oversight through ignorance of the existences of such structures.

HEARING WEDNESDAY ON CENTRAL DISTRICT PLAN

The Carmel City Council will hold a public hearing Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock in the council chambers at city hall on adoption of a central district plan applicable to the business district. It contains four zones, instead of the present two, a design for traffic circulation involving one-way streets, a "pedestrian square" which closes one block of Ocean Avenue to traffic, relocation of Mountain View Street to enter into Junipero instead of Ocean Avenue, the old entrance to be made into a park; designation of the city property on Junipero south of Fourth as a city hall and corporation yard site.

Map and complete text were published in the Carmel Pine Cone, page 4, issue of May 5. Map may be seen at city hall. Reproduction of Map and text may be obtained at city hall for 25 and 10 cents respectively.

CLINTON MACY PITCHES NO-HITTER IN LITTLE LEAGUE

Highlight of this week's Little League play was a sterling pitching performance by Clinton Macy of the Boys' Town club who blazed a no-hit, no-run game to stun league-leading Wilder & Jones, 9 to 0. The little righthander was in rare form as he struck out 7 plumber swingers and issued only 4 walks. Only one Wilder & Jones base-runner got as far as second base as the Boys' Town gang backed up Macy's superlative pitching with excellent support in the field. The clothiers combed the W&J pitching for 7 hits to push across their 9 runs.

Art Carpenter's Pilot Market crew edged San Carlos Realty, 5 to 4, to share the top spot with Jack Cate's Wilder & Jones gang. Vince DiBiase and Tim Head teamed up to toss a three-hitter at the realtors as they struck out 13 between them. Lefty Head sent nine down via the K route while DiBiase got 4 on the last strike. Craig Cunningham and Larry Little hit doubles for San Carlos while Ron Parsons stroked one for the winners.

In Saturday's make-up game which was rained out on April 27, the Sport Shop got by Turner & McEldowney, 9 to 6, with Ron Mumford getting credit for pitching the win. The Sports exploded for 7 runs in the fourth inning in this one to erase a 4-2 deficit. Mel Grimes, Dan Albert and J. Montmorency hit two-baggers for Lew McCreery's Sports while Pete Crane doubled for the losers. Ron Mumford blasted a homer for the winners in the second frame.

In the battle of the plumbers against the bricklayers, Wilder & Jones turned back Turner & McEldowney, 19 to 7, as pitcher Kim Roberts hit a grand-slam homer for the winners. The plumbers picked up 10 runs in the first three innings to put the game out of reach for Don Canham's hustling gang. Roberts, Dennis Jones, Jim Zils, Ed Kawanankoa and Zack Arnold led the W&J hitters while Ring Guy and Pete Crane topped the T&M swingers.

Tonight's Little League action matches Pilot Market with Boys' Town. Friday night, Wilder & Jones tackles Sport Shop in a game which has a vital bearing on first place.

ALAN DAHLSTRAND TOP CCAL HURDLER

Although the team finished seventh in the CCAL track meet, Carmel High's Al Dahlstrand established himself as the top timber-topper in the league by driving to a pair of firsts in the obstacle events. The slender senior set a new standard of 20.8 in the 180-yard low hurdles and lowered his own personal mark in the highs. By winning the hurdles in the CCAL meet, Dahlstrand earned a chance to advance to the big NCS meet which is slated for the University of California track in two weeks.

Just about as expected, the King City Mustangs packed too much power for the rest of the schools in the CCAL and finished in front with a comfortable margin. The Mustangs racked up 51 points, Monterey got 45, and the Padres came through with 17. Buddy Steffen was the only other Carmel performer to hit the point column as he hung on for fifth place in the mile.

WATSONVILLE CLIPS PADRES IN CCAL SWIM MEET

Superior depth and come-through performances throughout the entire squad enabled the Watsonville Wildcats to upset Carmel High's favored natators in last Saturday's CCAL swim meet at the Padre pool. The Wildcats accumulated 89 points while splashing to the victory while Carmel picked up 67 and the third-place Monterey team got 55½. The CCAL meet completes the season for most of the Padre swimmers, but those who finished third or better in the CCAL will advance to the NCS meet at Santa Clara.

Watsonville's lightweight team also dominated the lightweight division of the CCAL as it piled up 84 points to 45 for Monterey and 11 for Carmel.

Carmel's varsity picked up four firsts in the individual events and won the medley relay. Chuck Rogers won the 200 freestyle; Bert Blanks took the 100 breastroke; Steve Rogers won the 100 butterfly; and Mike Cook finished in front in the 100 backstroke. Other point-makers for the Padres were Rick Johnson, 6th in the 50 freestyle; Mike McGibney, 6th in the 200 freestyle; John Hackbarth, 4th in the 100 backstroke; Ed Wilson, 4th in the 100 breastroke; Doyle Clayton, 6th in the 100 freestyle; and David Rosenkranz, 2nd in diving.

For the Padre lightweights, Bob Wells earned a third-place in the 50 freestyle and Terry Matney got in the money with a sixth-place finish in the 100 backstroke.

PADRE NINE EDGES KING CITY IN SLUGFEST

Carmel High's come-from-behind baseball team spotted the King City team 14 runs in the first three innings and came back to win the thing, 17 to 16, Tuesday afternoon at the wind-swept Carmel High diamond. With the wind blowing singles to triples and pitchers having extreme difficulty in finding the plate, Tuesday's tussle found both teams using five pitchers before the three-and-a-half hour marathon was terminated.

The hard-hitting Mustangs jumped to a seven-run bulge in the first inning when they combed Chris Wilkin for five hits and a like number of free passes. Dave Fuller finally put out the fire and gave Carmel a chance to come to bat. The Padres got back one run when Fuller doubled into left and scored on a fielder's choice. King City rallied for three more runs in the second heat and Forrest Cornwall came to Fuller's rescue. Forrest was blown off the hill in the next stanza as the Mustangs made it 14 to 1.

In the fourth inning, the Padres started to move when Ron Faia blasted a long home run over the left field fence with two aboard. Still on the short end at 16-10 going into the last inning, the Padres put on a walk-laden six-run rally to knot the count at 16-16.

Bud Cunningham started the Padres to victory in the first extra inning when he led off with a well-stroked single to center, advanced to second on a passed ball, and got to the third station on Bob Little's infield single. The end of the wild game came when a wild throw escaped the King City third-baseman and Cunningnam was waved home with the winning run.

Dave Fuller, who took two turns on the mound, had his hand raised in victory when he shut out the visitors in the top of the eighth. Besides pitching the win, the versatile senior also got three hits in four official trips to the plate. Ron Faia, Bob Little and Dave Harber also clubbed the ball hard for the Padres.

The Padres travel to Morgan Hill tomorrow for a league joust with the Live Oak Acorns. The Acorns dumped league-leading Gilroy in their last outing and have won their last three league games. Chris Wilkin will go for the Padres tomorrow with David Harber behind the plate.

KEARNS THROWS PERFECT GAME FOR VILLAGE INN

Pitching with the poise of a big-leaguer, little Gary Kearns spun a perfect no-hit, no-run game for the Village Inn Farm Team club last Saturday as the Inn clipped the Padres, 5 to 0. Nary a man reached first base as the Mission Fields mound star completely baffled the Padre swingers. Steady infield play by Jimmy Baldwin and Rudy Lamar helped Gary salvage his perfect game. Bob Gamble was the big stick for the winners, clubbing a perfect 4-for-4.

The Little Sparrows kept pace with Village Inn for first place in the Farm Team League by beating Carmel Plaza, 15 to 6. Greg True and Darryl Dawson collaborated to pitch the win for the Sparrows with John Kimbark, Paul Culver and Bob Ross casting them over for the losers. Fielding gem of the game was turned in by Plaza third-sacker, Jay Argust, who nailed a twisting fly ball near the dugout.

Nikko's found the victory road at the expense of the American Legion by winning a close one, 6 to 5. This was a well-played game all the way with the fine pitching of Ken Little tipping the verdict to the Nikko gang.

In a five-inning slugfest, Derek Rayne edged the Rockets, 12 to 11, with Rick Taylor getting credit for the win. Rick received pitching support from John Kalmbach and Jack Argieste in the wild-scoring affair. Gay Swim, John Jacoby and Steve Edwards toiled on the mound for the Rockets.

This Saturday's Farm Team play finds Derek Rayne tackling Little Sparrows at 9:00 o'clock; Village Inn against Nikko's at 11:00; American Legion and the

Girl Scouts Plan World Festival At River School

Carmel Girl Scouts and Brownies will give an International Festival at River School on Sunday afternoon from 1:30-4:00 o'clock. All 15 Carmel troops will participate in the event emphasizing world friendship. There will be exhibit booths. Crafts, representing all member countries of the World Association of Girl Scouts and Guides, will be for sale. The festival is planned as an imaginary trip to Switzerland, the Philippine Islands, Sweden, France, Hawaii, Egypt and Scotland, to name some of the countries united in the democratic policy of international friendship through Girl Scouting, according to Mrs. Jane Adams, neighborhood chairman.

Mrs. Adams also announces that adult helpers are needed for the Carmel Girl Scouting program such as organizers, consultants, Brownie and Intermediate Scout leaders and persons qualified to help with outdoor life, camping, singing, dancing and international friendship programs.

WESTCOTT IN GERMANY

Army Private George Westcott recently participated in field training exercises in Germany with the 8th Infantry Divison, 12th Engineer Battalion. He is a construction specialist.

George graduated from Carmel High School last June and entered the Army in September. He received his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, and arrived in Germany in February.

Dr. Husband Happy With Big Turnout For Polio Shots

So great was the response to the second low-cost polio vaccination clinic at the USO on Tuesday evening that 250-300 persons had to be turned away. As a result, another clinic, especially planned for these persons, will be held in the same location on Tuesday evening from 5:30-7:00 o'clock. During last week's clinic 1900 shots were administered.

The Salk polio vaccine is given to adults of all ages, teenagers and children over six months old at the public immunization clinics on the Peninsula, cost 50 cents a shot. The public service is sponsored by the Monterey-Pacific Grove Quota Club, County Medical Society, County Nurses Association, County Health Department and other civic groups.

Dr. Myron W. Husband, county director of public health, was delighted with the public's response to last week's clinic. He emphasizes that paralytic polio can be even more severe in adults than children and that 40 is no longer the age limit for immunization.

JUNIOR HORSE SHOW SUNDAY

The third annual Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club Junior Horse Show for riders 18 years old and under will be held on Sunday afternoon starting at 1:00 o'clock at the club grounds. The public is invited free of charge. Entries open at 10:00 o'clock and close at 1:00. Trophies and prizes will be awarded winners. A canteen will open at noon.

JC Band Presents Symphony For Fun At Sunset May 28

The Monterey Peninsula College Symphonic Band will present Symphony for Fun on May 28 at 8:15 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium. This will be the first concert the band has given for the public this year.

The 45-piece band, directed by Dr. Bruce Hubbard, will give a program including Marriage of Figaro, Mozart; Tchaikowsky's 1812 Overture; American in Paris, Gershwin; and Flower Drum Song. Student Ernest Tweedy will be the piano soloist.

Art On The Peninsula

Three Carmel painters won awards in the thirteenth annual Madonna Festival at the Wilshire Methodist Church in Los Angeles, May 1-8. Ethlyn Crouch's Mother and Child oil won both a purchase and festival award and will be part of the permanent art collection at the church. Barbara West and the late Mary Miller were given festival awards.

Colored slides of paintings exhibited in this year's Madonna Festival will be shown at the Carmel Art Association Gallery on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Glenn Turner, festival director. Six hundred paintings were submitted in the show this year. Any interested person is invited to attend the slide showing, according to John Halloran, curator at the gallery.

Winner, chosen by popular vote, on Friday at the Craft Studios' weekly non-juried show was Jessica Quigley of Carmel Meadows. She entered an oil landscape. Second place went to Armenell Manly of Carmel who showed a still life in oils.

During June the Santa Cruz Art League will sponsor an exhibition of paintings and sculpture by California members of the American Artists Professional League. Abel G. Warshawsky of Monterey will be one of the guest artists.

The League, a national art organization, maintains galleries in New York City and originated National Art Week.

The show will be hung in the Santa Cruz Art Gallery and open daily in the afternoon, 1:00-5:00 o'clock. There is no charge.

At Threadbare Square in Pacific Grove the exhibit of Pots by Kip continues until May 30. A substantial portion of the stoneware made at Big Sur by the hereditary potter, Jay Kip, has been assembled for this showing. Arranged in the foyer and on shelves in the main room by Gene Flores of the gallery are the cooking dishes, good-sized teapots, bowls and jars demonstrating that for Kip each piece is firstly a utensil.

On the walls are paintings by Jay Chaffin, representing recent work by this local artist, also on view to the end of the month.

A group show of paintings, drawings and sculptures by artists of this area and of other places is on display in the alcove by the tearoom. This is a continuous exhibit, with changes at intervals presenting new work along with the more familiar parts of the collection.

Monoprints by Rosalind Cellnicker as well as woodcuts and drawings by Gus Velletri are available at the gallery.

Harvey Russell

Harvey Andrew Russell, retired California cattle rancher, died yesterday in his home on Santa Lucia Street at the foot of San Carlos Street. He was 79 years old and had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Russell had been associated with this area since 1914 when he leased San Carlos Ranch for a period of years. He established a home on Rio Road in 1925 and, following his retirement in 1951, built the home in which he was living at the time of his death. He was born in Lompoc on March 9, 1881.

Mr. Russell had extensive cattle interests in various parts of California. He was an authority on wild grasses used for cattle feed. In the interest of cattlemen he headed up research at the University of California San Joaquin Experimental Range.

Each spring Mr. Russell made trips through California, checking the growth of grass. He enjoyed seeing the wild flowers on these expeditions and planted the front of his Carmel property only with native flowers and shrubs.

He was a member of the board of directors of the California Cattlemen's Association and the National Cattlemen's Association.

Survivors are his wife, Florence, of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Earleen C. Hanhart of Madera; three brothers, Hubbard R. Russell of Maricopa, Joseph H. Russell of Camarillo and Merrill L. Russell of Ojai; and three grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Paul Funeral Chapel with Dr. Joseph M. Ewing of the Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial will be in the family plot in the Garden of Memories, Salinas.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Russell may do so in the form of donations to charities of their choice.

WIDOR MUSIC AT WAYFARER

Charles M. Widor's Mass—Opus 36 will be presented by the Chapel Singers of the Church of the Wayfarer as a part of both the 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock services on Sunday. Directed by John W. Farr with Connell K. Carruth at the organ, the composition will also feature solois by Herbert L. Myers and Dr. John E. Craige.

This seldom-presented musical work will be sung from manuscripts sent from France to Mrs. Carruth from a former student of hers at Mills College. It is also in recognition of the fact that Mr. Carruth was a pupil of the composer Widor.

Leading the worship at the services will be Dr. K. Fillmore Gray.

Youth Center Board To Meet On Tuesday

Tuesday afternoon, 4:30 o'clock, the Carmel Youth Center Adult Board will hold a business meeting at city hall. Carmel Recreation Commission members will attend to learn what proposals the adult board has for financing the youth center.

Community Chest committee has drasticially cut this year's promised contribution to the youth center, and put the adult board on notice that the Chest will continue to reduce and, within two years, cease entirely its support.

The Carmel Unified School District board has also notified the center board that they intend to withdraw support.

BURRS SOFTBALL INJURY

The Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department took Roger D. Burrs, Naval Air Facility, to the Peninsula Community Hospital at 8:47 o'clock last night.

He received a leg injury in a Carmel Merchants - Navy Air Facility baseball game at Sunset School field. A Navy ambulance later removed him from the local hospital for treatment.

Art Today In Hawaii

By E. CASHION MAC LENNAN

During my recent five weeks visit in Hawaii one of my pleasures was ferreting out the best of the work of the Island artists. And it was interesting, and rewarding as well, to find there was an active interest in prints and printmakers as well as in painting and painters.

At the Honolulu Academy of Arts an outstanding exhibition of The Arts of Japan, filling six galleries, including paintings, sculpture, lacquer work, ceramics, textiles and prints. Especially noteworthy were the 18th century prints of actors and beautiful women, a set of woodblock prints of birds by Hiroshige, and the famous Academy-owned painting, White Egret on the Wave.

Many of these works of art can soon be seen in San Francisco and Seattle Museums, for about a hundred of these masterpieces will be sent there for display after the close of this exhibition. Then at the Academy a number of etchings by Rembrandt will be shown. At the Academy was also an outstanding exhibition of woodblock prints by Anastasious Tassos, a Greek artist, whose work so interested Mrs. Newton, a San Francisco decorator, while she was travelling in Greece that she persuaded this artist to lend her a collection of his prints and his blocks to be shown in America. His compositions of varied pastoral and rural subjects, and the richness of the color schemes make this a stunning show and worth returning several times to study.

During the Pan-Pacific Festival at the University of Hawaii an exhibition by the Hawaiian Painters and Sculptors Association was held in the corridor of the George Hall Building, and also a showing in the Music Hall of recent paintings by the members of the art faculty. The students of the art department held open house during the festival and gave demonstrations of Art in Action. The splendid murals of Jean Charlot in the Administration Building also attracted many visitors.

At the Grossman-Moody Galleries I found a fine collection of water colors of trees and flowers of Hawaii by Dr. Marie N. Wherry. The influence of the Orient where she studied flower painting is very evident in her work. She paints objectively but not photographically. Her Jade Vine, clusters of bright jade-green blossoms on dark green and purple stems, and Kalanche, imaginatively painted, were my favorites. There, also, in the Grossman-Moody Galleries, I was happy to see again some strong water colors by Juanita Vitousek, whose work has been seen on the Peninsula.

Hanging in the patio of the Honolulu Public Library were some interesting oils and water colors by the artist members of the National League of Pen Women. Of special interest to me was an oil by Nancy Lay, titled Yesterday, a composition depicting a group of grass huts, now rare in Hawaii.

While attending a presentation of the Japanese play, Roshomon at the Community Playhouse, I enjoyed, during the intermission viewing in the foyer and on the rear walls of the auditorium another collection of water colors by Hawaiian artists.

At the Gima Gallery, in the amazing Ala Moana Shopping Center, was shown an unusual exhibit of prints by Mark Tobey made from his pen drawings on wet paper. Tobey's rendering of his subjects, whether in action or in repose, catches the fleeting expression in a few expressive lines. His genre resembles that of Hokusai. Mark Tobey was a pioneer in building in America an understanding of Oriental culture. During the 30s he travelled throughout the Orient; in China studying caliography; in Japan living in a monastery and acquiring a knowledge of Sumi painting. His drawings completed there, of portraits and action figures, made into prints and gathered into a portfolio, are now collector's items of great value.

I enjoyed again visiting John Young at his gallery on Kalakaua Avenue, Honolulu. I had found and admired a large design of his, of horses; also a strong painting of blue-green mountains, both hanging in the Hana Maui Guest Ranch Hotel. John Young likes especially to paint, in his own very personal way, compositions of children, pigeons and horses; these singly or in groups. Recently he spent several months abroad, part of the time in Paris where he studied lithography in Montparnasse with Dejober, from drawing on stone through the processes of printing.

An afternoon tea and a good talk on art with Madge Tennent and Mr. Tennent, and later viewing her collection of paintings in her gallery, The Tennent Foundation, was a delightful occasion. The gallery contains not only her fine figure paintings and portraits of Hawaiians and many other portrait drawings, but also a small collection of the work of her artist friends. A small oil of mine is in this collection.

Since no regular gallery in the Academy of Arts is reserved for the Hawaiian artists in which to exhibit regularly, their exhibitions are scattered — in small galleries, in the halls of the university, in the patio of the library, and even hanging on the fence about the zoo in Kapiolani Park. There, a regular event visited by many devotees is the Saturday Art Mart. These paintings, mostly those of amateurs, vary greatly in quality; some of them may be classified as art, the rest as "self-expression."

Art in Hawaii is by no means homogeneous. Some artists show Asiatic influence, others draw their inspiration from America and Europe. Whatever the influence or source of inspiration, visitors will find much excellent work and a sincere striving by these artists. Interest in art is growing in Hawaii, now in the throws of a great building boom and stirred by a great influx of tourists and more or less permanent residents. Artists from the mainland are moving there. Dong Kingman, now traveling in Japan, plans to set up a studio in the heart of Honolulu where he plans to paint and where Mrs. Kingman will continue her writing; a fine addition to the many excellent writers and artists already in Hawaii.

Letters To The Editor . . .

Olof Dahlstrand, Architect
P. O. Box 2703, Carmel, California
May 6, 1960

Hon. Edmund G. Brown, Governor
State of California
State Capitol
Sacramento, California
Dear Sir:

The callous disregard of California's scenic beauty by the State Division of Highways is now extended to the heritage of our historical treasures. It is reported in the May issue of the Bureau of Mines' Mineral Information Service that a freeway will soon be constructed through old Nevada City, one of the better preserved cities of the Northern Mines, eliminating and altering substantial parts of the town, including a number of its most interesting historical buildings and sites.

Surely there must be a way to halt this apparently insatiable urge to desecrate all things of value in the name of progress. The Monterey Peninsula area is suffering the effects of this sort of insensitivity, and, but for the heroic efforts of a number of dedicated souls, the local situation would be even worse.

It is most urgent and imperative that steps be taken to place this blind power under control. The burden of selling their programs should be put on the Division of Highways, rather than the burden of resisting these depredations being put on the people.

Very truly yours.

Olof Dahlstrand.

Dear Mrs. Cook:

The Plan for the Central Business District of Carmel is up for adoption by Carmel's City Council. A public hearing on it is set for May 25 at 8:00 o'clock p.m. In our opinion, the Plan should be adopted, but certain additions are needed.

The Plan fails to place any limit upon either the maximum size of a building site, or the size of the building itself. Yet California's Planning Law provides (Sec. 65-800) that a city may "Regulate location, height, bulk, number of stories, and size of building and structures."

Although the details of such regulation properly fall within a zoning ordinance, the principles upon which such zoning is to be based should be clearly stated in the Master Plan itself. In fact state law specifies (Sec. 65462) a master plan "shall include . . . standards of building intensity."

One result of the lack of such controls is already visible in Carmel. Without such controls even larger "monolithic" type buildings could be erected anywhere in the business district. This, in our opinion, is contrary to the spirit and character of Carmel and should be prevented.

All citizens are urged to express their views on this subject to the City Council, to the end that the principle of limiting the bulk of buildings and the size of building sites, be expressly stated in the Plan, the details to be covered in the corresponding zoning ordinance.

Carmel Pine Cone,
Carmel, California
Gentlemen:

Normally it behooves a concert performer to keep silent when his efforts are reviewed in print, whether by professional music critics or essayists in musical criticism.

Referring to the review by Mary Lindsay-Oliver in your April 28 issue, of my concert at Monterey Peninsula College, I wish to point out a misrepresentation of facts, however, and that is a different matter.

Miss Lindsay-Oliver writes there, alluding to my Chopin encores, that "the player explained beforehand that his treatment was individual." This is simply not true. I made no such announcement, nor anything remotely close to it. Where did Miss Lindsay-Oliver hear it? The two or three hundred persons in the audience did not, for my announcement had to do with the 150th anniversary of Chopin's birth as the reason I was going to play Chopin encores in an all-Spanish program.

I agree with Miss Lindsay-Oliver one hundred percent that "wilful treatment of an already established art standard . . ." is intolerable. I will never make an announcement that I am about to do this, though my interpretations may pain someone.

You might wish to print this in your "Letters to the Editor" if you carry one. I am sending a carbon to Miss Lindsay-Oliver, and remain,

Very sincerely,
Emilio Osta

Carmel Weavers Win Conference Awards, Invited To Pottery

The weaving section of the Carmel Crafts Guild, at the monthly Guild meeting on Friday, exhibited work which won first prizes two weeks previously at the eighth annual conference of the Northern California Handweavers in Stockton.

The exhibit, designed by Joseph Weston and Les Rhinehart, won a first prize for best use of space. Blue ribbons were awarded to the following weavers for their work in the exhibit: Russell Brown and Les Rhinehart, yardage; Joseph Weston, tapestry weave rug; Ruth Erixon, Rya rug; Dora Crabtree, curtain material.

In the fashion show at the conference Mrs. Joseph Weston modeled a summer suit with two skirts and matching bag and her daughter a dress. Mrs. Weston had woven the material for these garments and also made them. Mrs. Everett Love modeled one costume she had woven and made, and a skirt with material woven by Les Rhinehart. No prizes were awarded for fashion show entries but Carmel weavers recived enthusiastic applause for their clothing from the 800 delegates at the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Calley have invited Crafts Guild members and interested persons to attend an Open House on Sunday at their home off Palo Colorado Canyon Road down the coast where they make their Garrapata Pottery. Signs will direct visitors after they leave Highway 1.

The next meeting of the Crafts Guild will be on June 10 in the Carmel Art Association Galleries. The puppet group will present a program which will be open to the public.

MIDNIGHT MOOD

Midnight is moon-pale,
Midnight is lonely.

The world has hushed its raucous speech.
I am alone and awake
With my clamoring thoughts,
With phrases scampering through my mind and my heart

Midnight is moon-pale,
Midnight is lonely.

I alone am awake,
Pouring my frustrations,
Pouring my dreams
Into the refuge of a poem.

MENDERS AND CASTERS AND DRYERS OF NETS

. . . cast an hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up; and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a piece of money . . . Matthew 18:27

Home fisher folk of sundry girth
Mending their nets by sea and lake,
Arms knotted under suns that bake,
Encased in song, encased in mirth,
Prideful humbly close to earth
Live hard their days of give-and-take.

Home fisher folk of sundry girth
Casting their nets in sea and lake
Seek coin for tribute, shekel worth,
In mouth of fish first caught. Men forsake
Mirth to frown at taxes rulers make
While women plan for bread and birth.

Home fisher folk of sundry girth
Drying their nets by sea and lake
Live hard their days of give-and-take.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

The list of new books this week looks interesting to this librarian. Not an honest-to-goodness dog in the lot of them! So to begin, consider Ring the Night Bell by Paul Magnuson, a surgeon who has made medical history in several departments. He is a dynamic man and a forceful writer. His book is good. Read it in good health!

Meyer Berger was a reporter on the New York Times and for years he did a column called About New York. He loved the city and all the strange, humble, obscure people whom he unearthed while roaming about looking for material for his newspaper pieces. He was shy and kind, and everybody told him their problems, and he put the problems in his columns, and the readers loved them. Now that Meyer Berger is no more, a selection of his writings have been published under the title Meyer Berger's New York.

Another happy columnist is Stanton Delaplane of the San Francisco Chronicle, whose latest book is entitled Delaplane in Mexico. He begins with, "Mexico is not the United States. This comes as a surprise to many people. Mexico is a poor country, just emerging—and emerging magnificently—from centuries of oppression and exploitation by foreigners. Mexico's poverty upsets many American tourists." Get the book, and take it from there.

Books about military exploits seem most often to be done by officers. Comes now a book by an enlisted man on the submarine Wahoo. He tells of the courage, the jitters, and the jokes among the crewmen on a submarine, of their adventures on shore leave and the people they met and the fights they had. The title is The Wake of the Wahoo.

There are six new novels, and among them is The Curtain Falls by Maurice Druon. The time span is the period between the two world wars, the scene is France, the characters are the members of two of France's great and powerful families.

Paul Horgan writes history and short stories as well as novels, and he writes novels very well indeed. His newest is entitled A Distant Trumpet. The background is the West of the 1880's, the results of the Civil War, and military life as it was in the Arizona of those days.

Take a good book to the beach during the sunny hours of the day but remember to bring it back with you when you return. Sand is hard on books, but a rising tide is much harder, and so are we when we charge you for the book you have lost.

"On Behalf Of The Hungry Peoples Of The World . . ."

"By your gift, you have shared in a dramatic ministry, bringing hope to the despairing," said a letter from John W. Abbott of Church World Service to the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer, read at the women's meeting recently. Church World Services is the interdenominational men's organization for relief and welfare work throughout the world, and the letter, acknowledging a small gift from the Wayfarer Auxiliary, gave some astonishing figures.

"During 1959," it said, "345,966,368 pounds of surplus foods, valued at $19,455,039, were shipped to the needy overseas. Every dollar sent over three hundred pounds of food." The food is made available by the United States government from the huge amounts held in storage and the men of C. W. S. meet the expense of shipment and distribution to areas of greatest need. Money for this comes largely from church groups and other charitable organizations.

These foods have been the swift and helpful answer to sudden disasters. Emergency shipments went to 240,000 people made homeless by typhoons, torrential rains and severe earthquakes in Taiwan; to some of the two million made homeless in the West Bengal area of India by floods; to many of the 1,350,000 victims of Typhoon Vera in Japan and thousands more in Korea; and to drought victims in Haiti and Jamaica.

"SOS (Share Our Surplus) foods have also been used in sustained efforts to feed the widows and orphans, jobless and homeless refugees in many lands, who because of political upheaval, or man's inhumanity to man, have little to eat. . . . On behalf of the hungry peoples of the world, we thank you."

MacLennans Home From Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. J. William Mac Lennan have returned to their home in Carmel following a visit of five weeks in the Hawaiian Islands. They jetted both ways, reaching home seven and a half hours after leaving Honolulu. They found Waikiki noisy because of the many new buildings being erected there; the great crowds of tourists making "The Tours," fifty to a hundred in a group, hurrying from place to place; and 3000 Shriners in convention. But the Island of Maui, where they spent most of their time, divided between Hana-Maui Ranch and the Maui Palms Hotel, was still unspoiled. "Hana Maui is a glorious Shangri-la; Maui Palms, a simpler place, best expresses the kindly generous aloha spirit of Old Hawaii," the Mac Lennans maintain.

While in Honolulu, the Mac Lennans met several of the Island artists and enjoyed viewing many exhibitions of art throughout the Islands.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Man's age-old longing for a clearer understanding of God and of his own identity is a central theme of the Lesson-Sermon to be read at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Soul and Body" will include the following from Isaiah (55:6): "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near."

One of the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states in part (428:8): "To divest thought of false trusts and material evidences in order that the spiritual facts of being may appear,—this is the great attainment by means of which we shall sweep away the false and give place to the true. Thus we may establish in truth the temple, or body, 'whose builder and maker is God.'"

The Golden Text is from Psalms (84:2): "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God."

Dr. Lloyd Visits Brother

Dr. and Mrs. David P. C. Lloyd of New York arrived here Tuesday evening for a week's visit with the former's brother, Frank Lloyd, and his family. Dr. Lloyd spent his early childhood in Carmel. During his high school years he was a summer visitor and acted in Forest Theater plays. He is now a neurophysiologist and member and professor of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City.

Tomorrow Dr. Lloyd will go to Palo Alto to speak at Stanford Medical School on the Structure and Function of the Spinal Cord. He has done research on nerve cells and nerve cell patterns for 20 years. His Stanford talk will describe "normal nerve reactions in sitting, standing and scratching the back of the head", he says.

On his way West Dr. Lloyd stopped to lecture at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City. After leaving here on Monday he will speak at the University of Oregon Medical School in Portland, the University of Washington Medical School in Seattle and take part in a symposium at the University of Washington Biological Station at Friday Harbor in the San Juan Islands. Next month he and Mrs. Lloyd will fly to England. Dr. Lloyd will lecture for the Physiology Society at Cambridge University then spend the rest of the summer "relaxing in Sussex."

Mrs. Lloyd, the former Cynthia Meynell, will visit members of her family during the English visit. She and Dr. Lloyd met when he was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University. Another Approach To Religion

Where is there a religion that honestly encourages the fullest possible use of reason?

There is beauty and truth in many of the world's religious faiths. Is there a church anywhere that does not claim to have all the answers?

I cannot accept religious beliefs just on faith. Is there a church for me?

Can persons from any religious background — Christian, Jewish, Buddhist, Moslem, etc. —find one church where all are welcome without "conversion" or "renunciation?"

If you find something of your own thought, experience, and searching in these questions, you are invited to share your ideas with us—the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula. We meet every Sunday at 11:00 a.m. at the Masonic Auditorium, Central at Lighthouse, Pacific Grove. Literature about Unitarianism may be procured by writing: P.O. Box 92, Carmel.

Carmel, California
Dear Fellow Citizens of Carmel:

It is with great personal pleasure that I pass on to you a commendation unanimously approved by the new City Council for your work in the furtherance of public knowledge and participation in the recent municipal election.

Your expenditure of time, energy and personal funds in the public interest is a genuine manifestation of an attitude and interest that will go far toward preserving the Carmel we all know and love, when all other measures have failed.

I urge you never to relent in your surveillance.

Sincerely yours,
Frank Putnam, Mayor
Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif.

May 17, 1960
The Honorable Mayor of Carmel,
City Hall, Carmel
Dear Mr. Mayor:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your gracious letter of May 11, 1960.

Your recognition of the efforts of the Carmel Citizens Committee, to stimulate interest in the civic life and problems of Carmel, is deeply appreciated. We thank you for it.

That our work was the subject of favorable resolution at the very first meeting of the new City Council, is most gratifying. It encourages our belief that our City Government, as well as our citizens, facing the problems that confront us, can and will use their powers boldly to insure that the character and charm of Carmel shall be preserved.

Sincerely yours,
Carmel Citizens Committee

Commission Study Plans For Store, Farr Apartment Handley Hills Subdivision

Carmel planning commissioners in study session yesterday afternoon considered plans for three business district remodelings, also, a subdivision north of the hospital, a new restaurant and a new office and apartment building. They heard protests against two recent commission decisions from Allen Knight and Thomas K. Perry.

Commissioners indicated they desired consirerably more landscaping than the amount shown on plans for extending the Purity Store parking lot and placing a basement under the north boundary of the new parking. Plans for the 21,500 square foot development showed only 1,892 square feet of planting.

Building Inspector Floyd Adams informed commissioners that the two percent landscaping demand about business district buildings was not in effect when the Purity Store was built but must be provided for remodeling. Commissioners decided that additional planting for the 30 off-street parking space Purity Store lot must be increased beyond the corner, perimeter and interior planting strips shown in the plans, amounting to 8.8 percent of the site. They said 20 per cent landscaping would be desirable, but this amount might be reduced under certain circumstances. The Borden's Dairy building will be demolished for the added Purity parking and basement development.

Plans for remodeling the Lanz of California shop on Ocean Avenue and James M. Toy's Candyland on Dolores Street, also a new restaurant to be built by Mrs. Edith Larson at Junipero and Fifth, will be acted upon at next week's regular commission meeting.

Planners decided to ask the county planning commission to continue consideration of Handley Hills, a 30-lot subdivision north of the hospital, developer J. O. Handley. Commissioners did not have time to study this subdivision sufficiently before the county planning commission next week. It was referred to the Carmel commission by the county commission as the property is within the boundaries of the Carmel Master Plan and designated as a natural park area on the plan. The subdivision extends east of La Loma Terrace to Highway 1 and north of the hospital to the Carpenter Street intersection.

Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr, through architect Will Shaw, submitted to the commission for study plans for a three office-eight apartment building at the Southeast corner of Monte Verde Street and Seventh Avenue. Off-street parking will be provided for each office and apartment plus an additional two spaces for the apartments owned by the Farrs at the southern boundary of the new development. These spaces will provide 100 percent parking for the existing six apartments. Landscaping shown in Mr. Shaw's plans amounted to 17 percent of the site. Estimated cost of the development is $150,000. Commissioners appeared pleased with the two-story development around an oak-shaded inner court with parking placed under buildings and hidden from the street.

They agreed to arrange a meeting with Allen Knight to discuss possible rescinding of a former refusal to allow him to extend his private marine museum adjacent to his home at Sixth and Guadalupe.

Thomas K. Perry appeared on behalf of Sidney Dibble who was refused permission to construct a parking lot for three cars. Commissioners asked Mr. Perry to request Mr. Dibble to submit new plans for the Traveler's Lodge lot.

City Council Backs Fenton Garage Plan By 3 To 2 Vote

velopment and made a token defense, as he has done at public hearings three times before the planning commission and three times at appeals before the council during the past year.

Two citizens spoke in favor of the building permit for the Fenton shopping center garage: Patricia Hall and Robert Spencer; ten in opposition: W. W. Yale, C. W. Fisher, representing the Carmel Citizens Committee, C. B. Hazeltine, Mrs. C. A. Broaddus, C. A. DeCamp, Mrs. Philip Schneeberger, Frank Dickson, Mrs. Florence Burrill, Mrs. Rose Crumrine, Mrs. Jeannie Klenke (see story this page for their comments.

In addition to Fred, Clara and Dale Leidig, 23 citizens signed the appeal against the planning commission's issuance of the building permit.

Kids' City Council Meeting Set For 6:30 Wednesday Eve.

superintendent.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening the student council will sit, with an agenda made up of items that have occurred to them during their day, with the commissioners and city officials.

Controversial proposals and some very original discussion and action frequently arise at the student council meetings. Some of the student proposals are carried on later adult council agendas since the adult commissioners find the student council meetings good sounding boards for some of their pet projects. Other proposals that arise at the student council meetings are as dumbfounding to the adult council as to the adult audience that fills the council chambers.

4 Circulating Petitions Against New City Plan

of our own citizens who need such services locally.

"9. The plan does not advance toward the solution of the major problem of providing added parking facilities for the use of our own people, but indeed takes existing parking space out of service.

"10. But most of all, a new town of entirely new design will be created. No longer the delightfulness of Carmel but intead a modern city with modern devices, regulations and conditions."

Citizens Protest Breaking Ordinance For Fenton Benefit

candidate for council, speaking in favor of the Fenton garage, said that the Citizens Committee "is a small group of people who think alike" and, under the mistaken assumption that Whitaker would support the appellants, suggested that he disqualify himself from voting on the issue since the "Leidigs sponsored his candidacy."

Col. C. W. DeCamp said the ordinance read "only the following uses" and listed parking lots not parking garages. "You can't get around that only."

Robert Spencer, speaking for the Fenton garage, urged the need of parking in Carmel.

Mrs. Philip Schneeberger said a gas station cannot operate as a hide-away. (The planning commission has specified that the Fenton gas pumps be out of sight from the street and no advertising be displayed.) She spoke of the nearness of the Fenton property to the residence ditsrict—one block. Granting Fenton special privilege will lead to demands for such privileges throughout town. "We're at a point where we have to choose between the car and the Carmel we all love."

Frank Dickson said he is in accord with the Citizens Committee's resolution opposing the Fenton gas station and garage.

Mrs. Rose Crumrine said that the intent of the zoning ordinance was to prohibit garages and service stations in the C-1 district. To grant this concession would be "breaking the law in the C-1 distract;" it would "not be honest or intelligent."

Mrs. Florence Burrill, questioning the need for the large parking garage, said there is parking two blocks from town. "In other cities people walk two blocks."

Mrs. Jeannie Klenke was "totally against the idea of breaking down our city ordinance. If it is done for this occasion, it will be done for other occasions. We'll lose the personality of our beautiful community."

Free Performance Of Newly Discovered Vivaldi Mass Sunday

who has sung several years in the Carmel Bach Festival Chorus.

Guest conductor Vahe Aslanian, was born in Boston and attended Watertown High School. He received his bachelor's degree in music from Boston University and his master's from Claremont. He has done additional graduate work at Stanford and USC. Aslanian has been professor of music at Hartnell since 1950. He has studied conducting at the Berkshire Music Center in Tanglewood, Massachusetts, where so many of the world's top conductors have received training and also he has guest conducted.

The Fulbright graduate scholarship he received last year was to study musicology at the Conservatorio San Pietro a Majella in Naples, Italy. His chief interest in Italy was research in the sacred choral works of Leonardo Leo, 18th century composer of the Neapolitan School. It was during this research that he came across the Vivaldi Mass manuscript lying forgotten.

Playing in the orchestra are violinists George Beck, Mrs. Muriel Brady, Miss Elaine Koenig, John McKea, Mrs. Lora Temple, Miss Joyce Thompson Miss Sheila Webster, Father Reginald Rosson; violists Jerald Slavich, Lorell McCann, Mrs. Marie Sale; cellists Mrs. Mary Dobel, Mrs. Elaine Nickel, Miss Helen Zumwalt; contrabassist Edwin Clapper; oboists Lloyd Clapper and Mrs. Susan Tweedy; trumpet William Stretch.

Monterey Peninsula and Salinas music stores have assisted in making this free musical event possible.

No Trustee Action On Sunset Teacher Says County Counsel

Carmel Unified school trustees, on the advice of County Counsel Bert Lindsley, took no action concerning Martin Marcus, Sunset School teacher, who refused last week to answer questions when summoned to appear at an Un-American Activities Committee hearing in San Francisco.

Mr. Lindsley told the school board that no action was mandatory until official notice of Marcus' refusal to answer the committee's questions came to the board and contained sufficient evidence of verified charges of insubordination. He came to this conclusion after receiving a request from Superintendent Stuart Mitchell about the matter.

Trustee George Yates moved that the board adjourn to an executive session at a later date to question Marcus. The motion died for lack of a second.

Mr. Mitchell stated this morning that if the board asked Marcus if he had refused to answer the committee and Marcus answered in the affirmative, the terms of the California code would make his dismissal mandatory.

School trustees last night also revised agreements of the Arthur Metz contract to purchase property in Upper Carmel Valley for a new school site. If the board does not purchase, each year, the parcel of land agreed upon in the contract, they will pay Mr. Metz $250 to cover taxes on the parcel; secondly, in the event of the liquidation of the Monterey Investment Company with which Mr. Metz is associated, the property would remain as part of Mr. Metz' estate; lately, the road to be jointly constructed by the school district and Metz will be dedicated to Monterey County.

Trustees agreed to have a district audit for the 1959-60 fiscal year by the firm of Reed and Heckenlaible, cost $1,000. Resignations of Mrs. Melinda Douglas and Mrs. Carol Surman, teachers at River School, and Harvey Bennett, Sunset, were accepted. Hired for next year were Herbert Reuter Jr. to teach at Tularcitos and Miss Ruth Stevenson, River School.

A letter protesting any raise in lunch prices was received from cafeteria managers Sadie Martin, High School; Irene Sieve, Sunset; Frede LeNeve, River; Elsie Wilmot, Tularcitos; Marie Canham, Woods. Chairman Ted Fehring pointed out in this respect that the board had only considered the possibility of raising lunch prices in discussion to perhaps discover means of reducing the $19,000 per year cafeteria deficit which the district covers.

A new teachers' salary schedule, starting at $4,800 per year with top salaries set at $8,400 per year and including anniversary step raises, was held for further study and a report from the administration as to whether these demands can be satisfied within the budget. New rules and regulations governing classified employes were also held for study and research.

Trustee Martha Bennett gave a report to the board on the National School Board Conference which she attended in Chicago last month. A school trip for seventh graders to Lick Observatory was approved.
